ACTIVE DUTY MILITARY POLITICAL ACTIVITIES

“Integrity First”

Active Duty Military Political Activities

This pamphlet provides a brief overview of regulations for participating in political activities as a member of the Armed Forces on active duty. The separation between political activities and the federal government is particularly crucial when involving the Armed Forces because of the importance of public confidence in civilian control over the military.

Political activity is an activity directed toward the success or failure of a political party, candidate for partisan political office, or a political group.

Partisan vs. Nonpartisan

Partisan activities relate to candidates or issues representing national or state political parties. Candidacy for national or state office is partisan, even if the candidate is not affiliated with a national or state political party. Partisan activities are more restricted than nonpartisan activities.

Nonpartisan activities are not associated with a national or state political party but involve “stand alone” political issues, such as constitutional amendments, municipal ordinances, etc..

Active Duty (AD) is defined as full-time duty in the Active Military Service of the United States without regard to duration or purpose, including: full-time training duty, annual training duty, attendance at a school designated as a Service School by law or by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned, or National Guard Duty.

General Guidelines

Members participating in nonpartisan and permissible partisan activities may not:

- Participate in uniform
- Use government facilities and/or resources
- Engage in any activity that would imply that the Air Force endorses or supports their participation in the activity

Active-Duty Members

Members of the Armed Forces should carry out the obligations of citizenship but are subject to certain restrictions on their political activities.

Members may:

- Register, vote, and express opinions on political candidates and issues (but not as a representative of the Armed Forces)
- Make monetary contributions to a political organization
- Attend partisan and nonpartisan political meetings or rallies as a spectator when not in uniform
- Promote and encourage other military members to exercise voting rights, if such action does not attempt to influence or interfere with the outcome of an election
- Join a political club and attend its meetings when not in uniform
- Serve as an election official, if such service is not as a representative of a partisan political party, does not interfere with military duties, is performed while out of uniform, and has the prior approval of the Secretary of the Air Force
- Sign a petition for specific legislative action or a petition to place a candidate's name on an official election ballot
- Write a letter to the editor of a newspaper expressing personal views on public issues or political candidates, if such action is not part of an organized letter-writing campaign
- Display a political sticker on a private vehicle
- Communicate with his or her elected representatives

Members may not:

- Use his or her official authority or influence to interfere with an election, affect the course or outcome of an election, solicit votes for a particular candidate or issue, or solicit or require political contributions from others.

- Be a candidate for, or hold, civil office except as authorized below

Exception: As long as the member is not serving on extended active duty (EAD), enlisted members and reserve officers may hold partisan or nonpartisan civil office if the office is held in a private capacity and does not interfere with the performance of military duties.

Enlisted members on EAD may seek and hold nonpartisan civil office as a notary public or member of a school board, neighborhood planning commission, or similar local agency, as long as the office is held in a private capacity and does not interfere with the performance of military duties.

Officers on active duty may seek and hold nonpartisan civil office on an independent school board that is located exclusively on a military reservation.

- Participate in partisan political management, campaigns, or conventions
- Make campaign contributions to another member of the Armed Forces or an employee of the federal government
- Solicit or receive a campaign contribution from another member of the Armed Forces, a civilian officer, or an employee of the U.S. for promoting a political objective or cause
- Allow publication of partisan political articles signed or written by the member that solicits votes for or against a partisan political party or candidate
- Serve in an official capacity or be listed as a sponsor of a partisan political club
- Speak before a partisan political gathering of any kind or promote a partisan political party or candidate
- Participate in any radio, television, or other program or group discussion as an advocate of a partisan political party or candidate
